Seen & Heard Around Murray

We don't know who will be the most pleased that the school year is ending, the college administrators or the students.

An obvious show of affection is highly appreciated by most anyone. In fact it is things like this that make life worth living.

Good to see Phil Mitchell out and around. He's looking good.

We have outfoxed our big Oscar. We cornered him. Got us a divider for the aquarium and put the two Oscars on one side and the rest of the fish on the other side. The big one has plenty of room to maneuver in. We can't get at the smaller fish, to which he had taken a definite liking. He figures they taste pretty good.

Being penned up however, we can feed him on a less expensive diet.

Our Mystery Snails have grown to huge size. These odd critters that sit along the bottom of the tank, glide along the sides of the glass, and otherwise live an uninteresting, to us, existence.

All the kids but one are at home. We can't remember when they were all here at the same time.

The Calloway County Conservation Club plans a trap shoot Saturday and Sunday. On Saturday at 3:00 p.m. the stock birds will be given to club members. All club members are urged to be on hand to get their birds.

These stock birds are released.

Apollo 10 Passes Halfway Point In Flight To Moon

By EDWARD K. DELONG
UPI Staff Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Having the time of their lives but deadly serious about their work, the three Apollo 10 astronauts sped nearer the moon and a live television show of its approach today. A perilous task awaited them there.

Far behind them at the Cape Kennedy takeoff point, the Apollo 11 rocket and spacecraft assigned to land the first men on the moon two months from today headed for the launch pad.

That mission depends on how well Thomas P. Stafford, John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan and the moon landing equipment they must check out perform in Thursday's all-important test.

At mid morning, the team of lunar scouts would be about 183,000 miles from home, and traveling at 2,500 miles an hour.

Nearly Perfect Flight

So far, Stafford and his crew have had a nearly perfect flight. Apollo 10 problems have been minor and the astronauts faced a quiet third day in space after their 7:50 a.m. EDT awakening. Flight controllers on the ground still must decide whether Apollo 10 must fire its engines a second time to put it dead on course for the moon.

After the first control maneuver Monday, however, technicians said the spacecraft's trajectory appeared perfect and that no further correction was likely.

The astronauts had another live color television show on their schedule at 6:49 p.m. The target was the moon. The four shows so far have highlighted the eight-day mission that began at mid-day Sunday.

After watching the antics from Apollo 10 Monday, Cernan's wife, Barbara, called her

Cases Heard Circuit Court

The Calloway County Circuit Court convened this morning with Judge James M. Lassiter presiding.

Floyd Cunningham pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter and was sentenced to one year in the Kentucky State Penitentiary at Eddyville, according to the office of Circuit Court Clerk James Blacklock.

Boyce Bumphis also pleaded guilty to the charge of attempted arson and was sentenced to one year in the Kentucky State Penitentiary at Eddyville, according to the Circuit Court Clerk's office.

Monday the case of Hill Construction Company vs. South Central Bell Telephone Company was heard. This was a trial by jury with the judgment being made to the Hill Construction Company, according to personnel at the Circuit Court Clerk's office.

The Petit Jury will report back to the court on Monday, May 26.

Red Cross Campaign Is Termed Success By Chairman Miller

The successful conclusion of the 1969 Red Cross Fund Campaign was announced today by Robert O. Miller, Campaign Chairman. A total of $8,194.92 in cash and pledges has been received and donations are still coming in.

"We consider the drive to have been a success for several reasons," stated Mr. Miller. "One is because of the type campaign which was conducted. We decided early in the drive to refrain from 'high pressure' tactics. Red Cross services are supposed to be voluntary, and the money to maintain them should, in our thinking, be voluntarily given. We tried to give each citizen an opportunity to donate, and we explained how the money would be used. We then left it to the conscience of the community."

"The second reason we consider the drive successful is that it represents a 20% increase over that obtained through the United Fund, which indicates to us that the community in general has approved of and wanted Red Cross programs, and has willingly supported them through the United Fund in the past."

"However, the main reason we are pleased with the results of our drive is that we can report to the public that there will be no cut in services for financial reasons. With a major war in progress we felt it vital that we raise enough money to keep all military services provided for our local servicemen and their families, and we have done this. Our disaster preparedness can also be maintained. A local civic organization is interested in assuming the expenses of the blood program."

"This program, which is for the benefit of any Calloway County citizen who needs a blood transfusion, either locally or out of town, is always in 'double jeopardy' because it has to be supported both with money and by meeting the blood quota. But we can at least say that it will not have to be

Miss Clara Eagle Listed As Critical

Miss Clara M. Eagle is still listed in critical condition this morning by officials of the Murray-Calloway County Hospital.

The patient, director of the division of art at Murray State University, suffered a heart attack at her office on Saturday morning.

Miss Eagle has been a member of the faculty at Murray State since 1946.

Two Collisions Are Investigated; 35 For Month Of May

Two traffic accidents were investigated by the Murray Police Department on Sunday. No injuries were reported. This makes a total of 35 traffic accident reports filed by the officers of the City Police in the month of May.

Cars involved in the collision at 6:15 p.m. on Sunday were a 1962 Ford Thunderbird driven by Pamela Joe Duncan of 1304 Peggy Ann Drive, and a 1967 Ford Station Wagon owned by Tech-Com Corporation, English, Ind., and driven by Charles D. Inglis of Evansville, Ind.

Police said both cars were going south on 641 South when the collision occurred. Damage to the Duncan car was on the right rear and to the Inglis car on the right front side.

The other collision occurred on the parking lot of the Murray Women's Club House.

Cars involved were a 1966 Chevrolet two door hardtop driven by Gilbert Lander Mathis of Oak Grove and a 1968 Pontiac two door hardtop owned by Andrew C. Oakley of Cadiz Route Two and driven by John Francis Hall of Cadiz.

Police said Mathis was backing out of parking space and Hall was going south out of the parking lot when the collision occurred.

Damage to the Mathis car was on the rear and to the Hall car on the right rear quarter panel.

Nixon Will Meet With Thieu, June

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon and President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam will meet on Monday and Tuesday to discuss the war and to reaffirm "their unity of purpose," the White House announced today.

Nixon and Thieu arranged the mid-Pacific meeting after Thieu publicly urged such a greeting after conferring in Saigon with U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

Thieu called for an early meeting with Nixon following the President's speech last week outlining his administration's position in the quest for peace in Southeast Asia.

This will be Nixon's first meeting with Thieu since Nixon became President in January. President Lyndon B. Johnson conferred with the Saigon government's chief several times during his administration.

Mrs. Richard Miller will present special music, and Miss Elaine Casey will tell with illustrations the story of "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang".

Children in the age group of four through seven are invited to attend. Those whose last names begin with A through M are to attend on Wednesday and those with names from N through Z on Thursday, according to Mrs. Ben Trewhan, librarian.

Vocational School Would Fill Great Need Here

The application submitted by the Calloway County Board of Education for approval to construct an area vocational school to serve all students in Calloway County has been given tentative approval. Final approval is anticipated when adequate financial support is assured by this county and the State Department of Education gives approval to the site.

The need for a vocational education program to serve the needs of the students in this area has long been felt by industry and educational leaders in this area. At the present time there are limited vocational opportunities through programs of home economics, agriculture, business, and distributive education; but by and

In Time of Emergency

Many Could Live In Public Shelters

Most communities now have public fallout shelters that would protect many of their residents against fallout radiation. Where there are still not enough public shelters to accommodate all citizens, efforts are being made to provide more.

Most of the existing public shelters are located in larger buildings and are marked with a standard yellow and black fallout shelter sign.

Other public shelters are in smaller buildings, subways, tunnels, mines and other places.

These also are marked with shelter signs, or would be at a time of emergency.

Individual preparations for a nuclear emergency should include finding out the locations of these fallout shelters designated by local government for public use if no designations have yet been made, learn the locations of public shelters that are nearest to home, work, school, or any other places where much time is spent.

This advice applies to all members of the family. Children especially should be given clear instructions on where to find a fallout shelter at all times of the day, and what other actions they should take in case an attack should occur.

A fallout shelter does not need to be a special type of building or an underground bunker. It can be any enclosed space, provided the walls and roof are thick or heavy enough to block many of the rays given off by the fallout particles and thus keep dangerous amounts of radiation from reaching the people inside the shelter.

In addition to protecting people from radiation, most fallout shelters also would provide some limited protection against the blast and heat effects of nuclear explosions that were not close by.

What to Take to a Shelter

Many public fallout shelters are stocked, or are being stocked, with emergency supplies which augment whatever supply of food and liquids that are found in large buildings.

These shelter supplies include water, emergency food rations, sanitation items, basic medical supplies, and instruments to measure the radiation given off by fallout particles.

People using a stocked public shelter may wish to supplement these emergency supplies with additional food and liquids. Those with special dietary or health problems should take special medicines or foods, such as insulin, heart tablets, dietetic food or baby food. Other useful items not furnished in public shelters include a blanket for each family member, a battery-powered radio, a flashlight, and extra batteries.

Veterans Questions and Answers

Q - I was wounded in Vietnam and evacuated to a military hospital in the United States. I will be separated from service at this hospital.

Will I receive any counseling or information about veteran benefits before separation?

A - Yes, a Veterans Administration representative will visit you at the hospital to advise you of your veteran benefits. Further, he will help you file for these benefits. After separation, your records will be forwarded to the VA regional office having control over your records. That office will follow up to insure any applications you filed at the military hospital are processed in a timely manner.

Q - My grandfather served in the Confederate army. His grave is unmarked. Will the government furnish a marker for his grave?

A - Yes. The Department of the Army will furnish at no cost a headstone or marker to be placed at the unmarked grave of a member of the armed forces of the U.S., or of the Confederate States of America, who died in service or whose last discharge was honorable.

The applicant must arrange for placement of the marker. Your nearest Veterans Administration office will assist you in applying.

Q - I am planning to get a loan on my 30-day government life insurance policy. I understand the interest rate is 4 percent, but am not sure as to how much I may borrow and how I repay the loan. Can you tell me?

A - You may borrow up to 90-percent of the cash value by the local chapter of 99s, or regular repayments are required. You may send in a payment on your loan at any time, as long as you send $5.00 or more.

Payment should be made to the Veterans Administration insureance office where you send your premiums. Be sure to put your policy number on your loan repayment and designate it as repayment so that it won't be deducted from your compensation each month. Any unpaid annual interest charges will be added to the amount of the loan to be repaid.

The survey also showed 20 per cent approve of nudity on the stage and couples living together before marriage. Fifty-one per cent endorsed mercy killing.

Living in a Public Shelter

The people gathered together in a public fallout shelter for a few days, or possibly for a week or two, probably would find life difficult and unpleasant, but still bearable.

In the shelter, water and food may be scarce, and the available supplies of these necessities may have to be "managed"; that is, taken care of, kept clean, and rationed to each person. Sanitation also may have to be managed and controlled, perhaps by setting up emergency toilets and rules to insure that they are used properly. All shelter occupants would have to observe fire prevention precautions, and know what to do in case a fire occurred.

Occupants of a public fallout shelter in a time of attack would not need to know a great deal about handling these problems. A shelter manager and his assistants would cope with them, with the cooperation of all persons in the shelter. He would make the best use of whatever water, food, and sanitary supplies were available, establish fire-prevention and fire-fighting procedures, set up rules for living in the shelter, see that sick and injured persons were taken care of, and arrange for the shelter occupants to carry on various activities necessary for health and well-being.

Using special radiation-measuring instruments, or depending on official information received from outside sources, the shelter manager also would decide when it was safe for the group to leave shelter, and for how long at a time.

For the most part, occupants in a public fallout shelter would be called upon to support, assist and cooperate with the shelter manager and his staff.

The information in this story was furnished by the U.S. Department of Defense, Office of Civil Defense, to help people prepare for a nuclear attack and learn what actions to take in case an attack should occur. Local government authorities are responsible for supplying the public with more detailed survival instructions for this area. This information was drawn from the OGD publication "In Time of Emergency" (H-14), which is available without charge at local civil defense offices.

Snail Gives Show

FLAMINGO, Fla. (UPI) - One of the loveliest sights in store for Everglades National Park visitors is the rare tree-climbing lizard, a snail whose brilliant, multi-colored shell comes in more than 50 patterns.

Vacationers at the park's Flamingo accommodations learn that the "snail's pace" of the lizard, called the "gem of the Everglades," is about 4 1/2 inches a minute.

Don't court disaster. Don't store gasoline or kerosene in glass jugs or bottles; use either gasoline or kerosene to start the burning of trash, leaves or barbecue pits; use gasoline as a cleaner.

SEC Plans To Crack Down On Pro Agents

JEKYLL ISLAND, Ga. UPI — The Southeastern Conference apparently intends to crack down on campus solicitations by business agents seeking to sign star athletes to lucrative professional contracts.

The issue was discussed Monday at the annual meeting of SEC athletic directors and coaches.

"We've had some trouble at some schools where these agents — usually young lawyers — just take it upon themselves to wander into dormitories and make business approaches to our athletes," said Auburn's Jeff Beard, chairman of the SEC athletic directors and coaches.

"Even a verbal agreement between the athletes and agents, makes the athlete a professional, and thus ineligible for college play," he said.

Beard said an NCAA rule barring this practice has been on the books for some years, but he indicated that enforcement of it has been lax. He said he did not think the SEC had any players who should have been declared ineligible under the rule, but he said the issue was discussed "to head off any such possibility."

Beard warned that stiffer NCAA academic requirements for athletes can be expected in the near future, probably by the fall of 1970.

The NCAA currently requires that scholarship athletes make a 1.6 grade average on a 4.0 scale. SEC rules provide for a minimum grade of 760 on the college admission test.

Beard said a general rise in the national grade averages of high school students was the major reason for the NCAA hike.

The SEC group, which will continue its meeting through Wednesday, recommended to the league's school presidents, who take final action on the matters:

— That the SEC wrestling tournament be held the first week in March at Auburn.

— That the SEC golf tournament be held the second week in May at Calloway Gardens in Georgia.

— That the SEC baseball champion be required to participate in the NCAA regional playoffs at Gastonia, N. C., each year.

— And that football's 100th anniversary be recognized with appropriate observances at SEC games next fall.

State HS Golf Begins Today

FT. KNOX, Ky. UPI — The Kentucky High School Golf Tournament opens here today at the par-72 Lindsey Golf Course, with Bowling Green taping the team to beat.

Twenty-two four-man squads, the top two finishers from 11 regional championships, are entered in the 36-hole medal-play event.

For the first time in its 34-year history, the tournament this year is being staged in two divisions.

Following the two-day team tournament, a competition for individuals will be held May 27 at Ft. Knox's Anderson course. It too, is a two-day 36-hole medal-play event.

The man to beat in play for the individual state honors is last year's state champion, Stacy Russell, who heads the Allen County team.

Only the low 11 teams will survive first round action and enter Wednesday's final 18 holes.

The tournament is being held in conjunction with the Kentucky High School Girls Golf Tournament, which begins today at Middletown. It too is a 36-hole medal-play event over two days.

Andretti Is Pace Setter For Indy 500

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. UPI — Mario Andretti continues to be the pace setter during practice for the Indianapolis 500-mile auto race, but his speeds Monday weren't up to par with those turned in last week.

Action resumed Monday at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway after rain washed out the first scheduled weekend of qualifications for the Memorial Day race, and Sam Sessions, who as a rookie finished ninth last year, was injured in an accident.

Sessions, from Nashville, Mich., became the first driver of the spring practice to be hurt in a racing mishap at the Speedway, but his injuries are not serious. He was hospitalized for at least 48 hours with minor injuries and his status for this coming weekend's qualifications is in doubt.

The 33-year-old Sessions was hurt when his racer, a turbo-charged Offenhauser owned by Tassi Vatis of New York City, hit the inside wall on the back stretch, slid and spun twice before rolling into the infield grass.

Andretti, who had laps last week above 170 m. p. h. reached a top speed Monday of only 168.824 m. p. h. He apparently had some minor mechanical troubles, but his crew said the engine was in good shape.

A. J. Foyt, Houston, a three-time "500" champ, had a L.P.A. of 167.723 m. p. h. although he

NEW YORK UPI — Jerry Quarry was trying hard. Mighty hard. So hard, in fact, he nearly got carried away.

He stood up in the Volcan Restaurant, one of the city's fanciest, and made a few fancy statements about his June 23 heavyweight championship meeting with Joe Frazier at Madison Square Garden.

Quarry, caught up in the emotion of it all, said the fight "will be the best one in the last 10 years" and "maybe more," after which he also said the fighter of the year would come out of it.

When Quarry was finished and sat down, John Condon, who handles the Garden's boxing publicity, got up and said to him:

"I'll tell you what you told me when you arrived at the airport. Quarry sat motionlessly a moment and Condon prodded him. "C'mon Jerry, tell 'em what you said."

Quarry got up on his feet again. "I predicted I'm gonna knock him out in five rounds," said Quarry.

Then Joe Frazier got up. "Jerry says he's gonna knock me out in five rounds," Frazier repeated, looking at Quarry. "Jerry, you fool around and you're not gonna see five."

There was general laughter all around and even Quarry joined in. He had gotten under Frazier's skin but not too deeply. It was only a superficial puncture.

Quarry, whose last previous work night resulted in a 12-round decision over Buster Mathis, doesn't generally go in for predictions, but as he says, he's changing a number of things these days and one of them is his entire image.

No Psyche Job

"I've seen a lotta guys try to pull that," he said. "Most guys who do are whistling past the graveyard. They're scared to death. I'm not. I don't fear Frazier; I don't fear any man. I read in Ring Magazine, I think it was, where the punch that couldn't take Mathis out can't be expected to take Frazier out. But I never hit him, Mathis clean on the chin. I guarantee you if I had he'd have gone out."

"Why do you guarantee that?" somebody asked him. "Because I punch hard," he came right back.

The only time Quarry's back came up was at another question.

Miss Virginia Susan Downey Becomes Bride Of James Gary Nichols Recently

On Saturday, April 5, at four o'clock in the afternoon, Miss Virginia Susan Downey became the bride of Mr. James Gary Nichols. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Edward Downey of Puryear, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Nichols of Princeton, Kentucky.

The vows were said in the sanctuary of Paris First United Methodist Church with Rev. Clovis Kemp officiating.

The church's altar was banked with Easter lilies and an arrangement of greenery and white candles and white bows were used in the sanctuary windows.

The wedding music was presented by Miss Jewelle Compton, organist, and Mr. Franklin Goldston, vocalist. In addition to the traditional wedding March and Recessional, Miss Compton played "Ave Maria," "Bach-Gonond," "O Perfect Love," "Bambay," and "I Know that My Redeemer Liveth." Handel, Mr. Goldston sang "Pavane Angelica" and "The Lord's Prayer." Malotte as the closing prayer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white dotted swiss organza. The A-line silhouette gown was styled with a scooped neckline and was accented at the waist by a row of imported Venice lace, which was repeated on the short sleeves and bottom of the skirt.

The back of the gown was highlighted by a soft Dior bow, and a full chapel train. The bride wore a short veil of silk illusion attached to a headpiece of lace roses and pearls. Her flowers were a bouquet of pink and blue carnations, white mums and baby breath with a white satin streamer.

Miss Nan Lee, of Paris and Memphis was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Berry, Owensboro, Kentucky; and Mrs. David Mitchell of Madisonville, Kentucky. The attendants wore pale pink crepe gowns styled with round necks, empire waists and floor length A-line skirts. Their headpieces were matching pink bows, and they carried bouquets similar to the brides, with pink satin streamers.

Mr. Kenny Nichols, University Kentucky, served his brother as best man. Ushers were Mr. Ricky James of Hickman, Kentucky, Mr. John Sullivan, Lexington, Kentucky, Mr. Phil Mahler, Lincoln, Illinois and Mr. Ron Beshear of Princeton, Kentucky.

The bride's mother was dressed in oyster white knit dress with burnt orange accents on the bust and matching shoes. Mrs. Nichols wore yellow knit with beige accessories. Both mothers wore white gardenias.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall following the ceremony. The table was covered with white net over a white satin cloth, and held a large silver candelabra—arrangement of white mums, baby's breath and pink carnations.

The tiered wedding cake was topped with white flowers and bells. Miss Valerie Umbach kept the guest register, and serving were Mrs. Jerry L. Webb and Mrs. Carol Ferris.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Alice Watson, Mrs. W. T. Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Downey, Mr. Jerry Dycus, all of Paducah, Kentucky; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Berry, Mrs. Willye Threlkeld, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dunbar all of Owensboro, Kentucky; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jobe from Greenfield, Tennessee; Mr. Bill Johnstone, Mr. Tony Cavanah, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Lester White, Miss Alice Heaton, Mr. Bill Nichols, all of Princeton, Kentucky; Mr. Steve Simmons Murray, Kentucky; Miss Kay Boyd, Louisville, Kentucky; Lee, Branch, Albion, Illinois; Mr. Buzz Henry, Hickman, Kentucky; Miss Anita Bondurant, Fulton, Kentucky; Mr. Pat Moynahan, LaCenter, Kentucky; Mr. David Mitchell, Madisonville, Kentucky; Mr. David Mann, New Madrid, Missouri; Mr. Ronnie Giles, Wickliff, Kentucky; Mr. Rodney Maskew and Mr. Robert Blakey, Hopkinsville, Kentucky; and Mr. Richard Smith, Green, New York.

On Friday night, April 4, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Nichols were hosts to a rehearsal dinner at Kay's Steak House. Present were the honored couple, Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Downey, Mr. and Mrs. Nichols, Miss Virginia Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Clovis Kemp, Mr. Franklin Goldston, Mr. Kenny Nichols, Miss Nan Lee, Miss Nancy Berry, Mr. Ricky James, Mr. John Sullivan, Mr. Phil Mahler, and Mr. Ron Beshear.

Prenuptial parties held in honor of the bride were a breakfast given by Miss Ann Harker and Mrs. Clovis Kemp at the Holiday Inn in Murray, Ky.; a bridal tea given by Mrs. W. F. Cary and Mrs. Jerry Webb at Mrs. Cary's home in Puryear; a bridal shower given by Miss Charlotte Jones, Miss Nancy Berry and Miss Valerie Umbach at Hester Hall in Murray, Kentucky; and a tea given by Mrs. Jack Nichols and Mrs. David Mitchell in Princeton, Kentucky.

Bush coats are heading to fashion's front ranks in little boyland. The coats, and companion shirts, offer plenty of pocket room — er, places to stash treasures.

Wife dizzy over ironing shorts!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I've been happily married for 5 years and you may not think this is much of a problem, but here goes:

When Clyde and I were first married, he asked me to IRON his undershorts. He says his mother always did. Well, at first I didn't mind because we had no children, but now we have two, and I could save a lot of time by just tossing them in the dryer and folding them, but I tried that once and I never heard the end of it. Clyde said he could "feel" the difference.

Abby, I love my husband, but don't you think if he had a little more consideration for me he wouldn't ask me to iron his underwear?

What would YOU do?

TOO MUCH IRONING

DEAR TOO MUCH: I would iron his underwear. You are wasting more energy complaining and arguing about it than it takes to iron seven pair of shorts once a week.

DEAR ABBY: I work with a girl I'll call "Paula" who sews beautifully. I agreed to pay her $5 if she'd make me an Easter outfit.

I bought the material myself and paid $4 a yard for it. I bought plenty of material so she wouldn't have to skimp. I also told her I am a size 12.

Well, the Saturday before Easter Sunday, Paula brought the dress over and it looked beautiful! Before church, I tried it on and it was so tight and short I couldn't wear it. A few days later I saw Paula's little 6-year-old daughter wearing a dress made out of the same material as MY dress! Now I know why my dress was so skimpy.

I haven't paid Paula the $5 yet. Do you think I should?

CHEATED

DEAR CHEATED: No. And if I were you, I'd tell her why.

DEAR ABBY: I plan to give a party for my father's 80th birthday. My problem is this: I'm going to invite a lot of his friends and relatives, and I don't want them to spend a lot of money on expensive presents. Dad is not a wealthy man. He lives very simply, and doesn't need a thing.

Would it be improper for me to ask those I invite to make a contribution to a charity instead?

My father is a kind and fun-loving man, and the greatest gift to him would be for people to come and have a good time.

A DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Most people instinctively know better than to "spend a lot of money on expensive presents"

Pictured above are left to right, seated Mrs. Dan Billington, Mrs. Ray Broach, back row, Mrs. Holmes Dunn, Mrs. Alvin Uarey, Mrs. Richard Armstrong, Mrs. N. P. Cavitt, Mrs. Jewell McCallon and daughter, Mrs. R. D. McDaniel and Mrs. Barlett Wrethar.

Executive Board Of Homemakers Meets Recently

Ensign and Mrs. Thomas Reed Madison, Jr., of Albuquerque, New Mexico are the parents of a son, Thomas Ford Madison, born May 15. He weighed 8 pounds and 4 ounces. Mrs. Madison is the former Andrea Sykes.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sykes of Murray. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Regd Madison Sr., of Reedland.

Elegant fabrics play a part in at-home evening wear — for him. Consider: royal blue flared slacks of velvet and worn with a blue and white silk shirt and matching silk scarf. Brocades also make the man fashionable.

for an 80-year-old man. These so moved will do it anyway. The others will do what comes naturally. So forget it. Invite the friends and relatives and have a good, relaxed time.

DEAR ABBY: The letter you received from "NOT DEAD YET—BUT DYING" was the most important and timely letter you have ever published, at least insofar as the American divorce rate is concerned. May I suggest that all your women readers take another look at the last paragraph. I quote: "I assure you that there isn't a normal man living who doesn't want a warm, responsive, uninhibited wife."

Sincerely, MOYSHA

Frozen Assets Make Real Cool Dessert Course

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

FROZEN desserts have been considered a treat in this country since 1774 when an enterprising caterer named Lenz put an ad in a New York newspaper offering "frozen cream" for sale. But Lenz didn't discover frozen desserts! Nero, the emperor who is best remembered for fiddling while Rome burned, is credited with this. Reportedly, he had snow brought down from mountain tops by his fleet-footed servants. He served it topped with honey and fruit juices. What that man might have done with a freezer!

What he didn't do, you can! With refrigerator or electric ice cream maker and new shortcut recipes based on convenience foods, you can whip up fabulous frozen treats in a wink.

Only the homemade variety can combine the unusual and intriguing flavor of today's Strawberry Tea Parfait. It is lemon flavored ice tea mix added to fresh pureed strawberries with marshmallows and whipping cream giving it smooth texture.

For something fancy, we suggest Baked Alaska in a version that packs vanilla ice cream into a pie shell, spars it with the flavor of instant tea and lemon, tops it off with a swirl of feather-light meringue.

STRAWBERRY TEA PARFAIT

1 1/2 pint boxes fresh strawberries, washed, drained and hulled
12 marshmallows
2 (1.6 ounce) envelopes lemon flavored iced tea mix
2 cups heavy cream

PARFAIT FOR THE COURSE—the dessert course! A marvelous mixture of lemon flavored iced tea mix, pureed strawberries, marshmallows and whipping cream, it's real cool!

2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar

Measure 2 cups strawberries. Slice and sweeten remaining berries to use as garnish; refrigerate.
In medium saucepan, combine 2 cups berries, marshmallows and tea mix. Simmer 10 minutes over low heat, stirring frequently. Remove from heat. Freeze mixture through a sieve; cool.

In large bowl, whip cream until it begins to thicken; add confectioners' sugar and whip until stiff. Blend in strawberry puree. Pour into 2 ice cube trays.
Freeze about 1 hour or until partially frozen; stir thoroughly. Freeze another hour; stir thoroughly again. Freeze until firm.
Spoon frozen strawberry cream into parfait glasses; top with sliced berries.

Serves 8.

IMPERIAL ALASKA PIE

6 tablespoons butter or margarine
Grated peel of 1 lemon
1 cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon instant tea powder
1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks
2 pints vanilla ice cream
1 baked (9-inch) pastry shell
3 egg whites
6 tablespoons sugar

In top of double boiler, melt butter; add lemon peel, lemon juice, instant tea powder, 1 cup sugar and salt.
Slightly beat whole eggs with egg yolks, combine with lemon-ice mixture and cook over boiling water, beating constantly, until thick and smooth. Cool.

For layered effect: soften 1 pint of the ice cream and smooth evenly in pastry shell; freeze until firm.
Spread half the cooled lemon-ice filling over the ice cream layer; freeze until firm. Soften remaining pint of ice cream and spread over lemon-ice layer; freeze until firm. Top with layer of remaining lemon-ice filling; freeze until firm.

Preheat oven to 475 F. In medium bowl, beat egg whites until stiff; gradually beat in 6 tablespoons sugar; spread meringue on pie, sealing edges. Place on a board and bake 2 to 3 minutes or until meringue is lightly browned. Serve immediately or freeze. Serves 8 to 10.

INSTANT TEA adds lovely color and lively taste to the vanilla ice cream filling of Imperial Alaska Pie. Just before serving, pop into the oven to brown meringue topping.

Competition On TV To Be Decisive

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD UPI - There will be some decisive head-to-head competition among major shows on the television schedule for the season starting this fall. On Mondays, for instance, NBC-TV's "Laugh-In" once again will go up against CBS-TV's "Gunsmoke" and Lucille Ball. And the question is whether "Laugh-In" will be able to maintain its enormous popularity, or eventually will crack against the G-baltar-like steadiness of the CBS-TV entries in the ratings.

For while "Laugh-In" is undoubtedly tops in the ratings, it should also be noted that "Gunsmoke" and Miss Ball still are very high up themselves, and have outlived tough competition before. "Laugh-In," by the way, will be challenged also by a new ABC-TV entry, "The Music Scene," a combination of hit records and satirical comedy.

Ratings Collision

Also on Monday's there will be a major ratings collision when ABC-TV's new series, "The Survivors," which stars Lana Turner and George Hamilton, runs up against CBS-TV's "Mayberry R.F.D." and Doris Day Show, and NBC-TV's movies.

On Tuesdays, the new NBC-TV Debbie Reynolds comedy will compete with the CBS-TV Western "Lancer" and ABC-TV's "The Mod Squad." The same night, there will be a real dogfight when ABC-TV's new 90-minute movie originals compete head-on with CBS-TV's Red Skelton and NBC-TV's "Julia" and Tuesday night motion pictures.

On Thursdays, another bit of fierce competition is caused by CBS-TV's new Jim Nabors Variety Hour. For on one side Nabors will be opposed by ABC-TV's "That Girl" and "Bewitched," and on the other by NBC-TV's "Daniel Boone" and "Ironside." The "Daniel Boone" show will also be opposed, earlier in the evening by CBS-TV's "Family Affair" - meaning that one of those two steady ratings-getters may just get hurt.

Adult Appeal

Later Thursday night, there is a regrettable scheduling collision when three programs with adult appeal - NBC's Dean Martin hour, ABC's "It Takes A Thief" and CBS' movies - go up against each other.

On Fridays, there will be another late-night showdown when CBS-TV's movies are challenged by two new one-hour series, ABC-TV's Lennon Sisters Variety Program, and NBC-TV's "Bracken's World," about behind-the-scenes goings-on at a motion picture studio.

The Saturday night showdown is simple and direct: NBC-TV's Andy Williams, with a weekly series of his own again, will try to knock off CBS-TV's longtime winner, Jackie Gleason. They are on at precisely the same time, opening the networks' evening schedule.

On Sunday nights, two new series will cause a bit of a fuss: NBC-TV's Bill Cosby show will take on two veteran winners, CBS-TV's Ed Sullivan and ABC-TV's "The FBI." And CBS-TV's fledgling Leslie Uggams Variety Hour will try to hold its own against NBC-TV's "Bonanza" and ABC-TV's movies. At this point, industry opinion is that

Southern States Industrial Council

THE ADMINISTRATION'S COURSE

A MANDATE FOR WELFARE

Having compelled the states to surrender their traditional and constitutional authority over public education, the U. S. Supreme Court now has decreed that states may not make fundamental decisions as to who is eligible for welfare assistance.

In a 6 to 3 decision, the court struck down state laws and regulations requiring welfare "clients" to wait a period of months before becoming eligible for relief payments. In so doing, the Supreme Court tossed out rules that are in force in 40 states and the District of Columbia.

The ground on which the decision was made was nothing less than fantastic. The court held that requiring people to wait before getting aid is unconstitutional because it restricts the right of all citizens "to travel throughout the length and breadth of the land." To reach this conclusion, the court had to ignore the facts. No person, except those restricted by a court order, is hindered from traveling anywhere in the United States. Freedom of movement never has been curtailed. States simply have drafted sensible rules that prevented handout hounds from dropping into any community they pleased and becoming an immediate burden on the taxpayers.

Now the Supreme Court has said that welfare careerists have an automatic right to get a handout in any state they choose to reside temporarily. This ruling is another nail in the coffin of state sovereignty, in the concept of a federal Union as established by the founding fathers of the United States.

On the practical side, the decision most probably will lead to the creation of wandering bands of welfare recipients who migrate from state to state according to the season and their whims.

Sunny states such as Florida and California may become winter resorts for a roving drone population. In Florida, the law on the books requires a person to have lived in the state five of the past nine years, and at least one full year prior to applying for welfare.

Floridians have been well aware of the possibility of hordes of professional relievers descending on the Sunshine State. It is impossible to calculate at this point how costly the new ruling will be to many states, but it will likely run into millions of dollars. Taxpayers, who are already overburdened, will be faced with a new weight of taxation.

Secretary of Welfare Finch has warned that the decision will have a severe financial impact. He has said that states should have the right to set their own welfare standards, but in the light of the court's ruling, he added, the states "are going to have to scramble to meet the extra budgetary load."

Inevitably, the Supreme Court's ruling will lead to demands for federal uniform welfare standards. And as a practical matter, the scale of payments almost certainly will be what is being paid in New York State. This, in turn, will impose staggering financial burdens on the poorer states. In addition, a federal welfare minimum would mean that those getting relief could move into those poorer states and live on a higher scale than many of the people in those states who are employed and paying taxes.

Thus the court's ruling will be an incentive to many persons to give up working and to get on welfare.

So-called welfare unions already are active. They aim at packing the welfare rolls and extracting every possible handout and advantage. The strategists of the welfare unions are engaging in this campaign in order to achieve their goal of a federally guaranteed income for non-workers in our society.

The drones in American society believe they have a vested right to a comfortable living at the expense of working citizens. And the Supreme Court's latest ruling in effect is a judicial mandate for this philosophy of compulsory handouts. In the long run, the United States may not be able to survive such an assault on productive citizens by organized, non-productive elements.

Baboon Can Change - Why Can't Man

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON UPI — Man behaves like a beast because his biological heritage is beastly, according to scientists. There may be some hope, however, that he can change his ways. Some beasts, at least, have managed to do this. The possibility that warmaking man can learn to improve his behavior - or, anyway, understand it - by studying animals is being discussed at a three-day international symposium sponsored by the Smithsonian Institution. Title of the symposium is "Man and Beast: Comparative Social Behavior." Evolution has bred into monkeys a need to keep their distance from one another spacing plus a simultaneous need to draw together for security and to mate and rear young along with a complex variety of stratagems for doing both without seeming to do either. For example, a monkey too close for comfort to a stronger and more aggressive monkey, will act as though this wasn't the case by looking the other way or staring at the ground. Animal "spacing mechanisms" were reported by I. Hans Kummer of Tulane University. His paper went deeply into territoriality, aggression patterns, dominance, submission, inhibition some monkeys wouldn't dream of propositioning another monkey's wife, efforts to achieve privacy, and a widespread tendency to take out on strangers grievances kindled by one's neighbors. Human beings, like monkeys, Kummer suggested, often find it useful to have foreign enemies in order to preserve unity at home. The crucial question is whether inherited behavioral tendencies can be modified to make man less beastly. Some genetic characteristics manifest themselves in any kind of environment. Others surface only under special environmental conditions and can be controlled, Kummer suggested, "by altering these conditions."

Many Pick Their Own Strawberries

By Miss Patricia Everett, Area Agent-Foods & Nutrition.

Many people in our area are heading for the strawberry patches these days. In our area there are numerous fields you can go and pick your own strawberries for a very small price.

Fresh strawberries are such a good source of ascorbic acid that a handful direct from the patch would supply a man his entire daily need of vitamin C. Berries generally are highly perishable and lose much of their ascorbic acid (Vitamin C) quickly if capped or stemmed or if their tissue becomes bruised. Strawberries will not keep their highest quality more than one or two days in the refrigerator. For best results they should be processed and preserved within six hours after they are gathered. If you plan to keep them a day or two, refrigerate them as soon as possible. Do not wash them before putting them in the refrigerator. Leave the caps on the berries until you are ready to prepare them. Sort them carefully and place loosely in shallow containers so that air can circulate and the weight of the berries on top do not crush those on the bottom.

When washing strawberries use cold or ice water to help make them firm. Warm water causes "bleeding" and produces a watery texture.

Whether to pack fruit in sugar or syrup or to leave it unsweetened depends partly on how you intend to use the fruit: Fruit packed in sugar is generally best for dessert use; Fruit in dry sugar or unsweetened is best for cooking, because less liquid is in the pack. Unsweetened packs are useful especially in jams and jellies or in baking, in which you have to know how much sugar the ingredients contain.

If you would like more information on preserving strawberries, write to Miss Pat Everett, Extension Office, Benton, Kentucky, 42025, for a free copy of "How to Make Jellies, Jams, and Preserves at Home", or "Home Freezing of Foods". These booklets include step by step directions on these subjects. Write for yours today.

SHOULD RAISE RATE

WASHINGTON UP — Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, said today the government should raise the interest rate for loans to college students above the present 7 per cent ceiling. He suggested the higher cost to the students should be offset by a government subsidy which would pay part of the increase. Miller said the rate should go up to encourage lending institutions to make more such loans.

Finns Are Experts At Neutrality

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The Finns, with a 793-mile border with the Soviet Union but oriented toward the West, have become the world's most expert neutrals.

Therefore, it came as something of a surprise when early this month the Finns suddenly proposed that their capital of Helsinki play host to a European security conference including the United States and Canada.

The Finns proposed an ambitious program, including first a preparatory meeting to set up an agenda and then the conference itself.

They further proposed that in the preparatory stage there should be a number of bi-lateral meetings. Among these Finland suggested talks between East and West Germany and between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The Finns denied a suggestion that they were carrying water for the Russians.

"It was," said a Foreign Office official, "Finland's own initiative, her own decision to make this move."

Nonetheless it was a proposal certain to please the Russians. The Soviet-led Warsaw Pact nations last March renewed previous proposals that Warsaw and NATO pact members should meet in a general European security conference looking toward abolition of both.

As Soviet troubles with Red China have deepened, the Soviets have pressed the idea even harder. For the Finns, the idea also made sense.

The Finns have spent more than 20 years trying to convince the Russians that they can be independent and still not anti-Soviet. Every decision affecting foreign affairs must take the Russians into account.

TO RAISE MONEY

He had planned to wear his robes at the reins until "some official in London said it might not be quite proper."

HENRY CABOT LODGE looks intense as he meets with reporters in Washington on his trip back from Paris, where he is chief U.S. peace negotiator.

EXERCISES "RIGHT"

MINNETY, ENGLAND UP — Author Alan Adamson says an 1813 act of Parliament gives him the right to cross the land owned by Mrs. Montague Crocker which surrounds his farm on three sides. Adamson decided to use the "right" Sunday and with a rented tractor drove from the main road straight towards his house through three sets of barbed wire, an electric fence, two gates and a rope barrier. Mrs. Crocker said she may sue for damages.

FROWNS ON HOBBIES

ROCHESTER, N. Y. UP — The law took a dim view of the hobbies of 10 men arrested over the weekend in a Joseph Avenue hobby shop. The owner of the shop was charged with promoting gambling and the others for being inmates of a gambling place. Vice squad detectives also confiscated betting slips, a small roulette wheel, cards, and other gambling paraphernalia from the shop.

Murray Scouts Win National Honor

Youth Achievement Award In Conservation Presented In Washington

For best "exemplifying the constructive role of youth in conservation", Boy Scout Troop 45, of Murray, was adjudged winner of the National Conservation Achievement Award for Youth by the National Wildlife Federation, the Sears-Roebuck Foundation and the League of Kentucky Sportsmen.

Troop Leader Donald F. Burchfield accepted the award in behalf of the troop at the President's Conservation Achievement Banquet, held in Washington, D. C. on March 1. Troop 45 last spring was adjudged the winner of the Kentucky state contest for youth work in conservation, and as such was eligible for the national finals.

Boy Scout Troop 45 is among the few troops in the Four Rivers Council that has been chartered each year for the past 30 years. During these years many boys in the troop have continued their scouting career to attain the Eagle Rank.

Troop 45, with its 35 members and leaders, has been a leader in all district and council activities and has received many high awards in competition with other troops.

For the past three years Troop 45 has centered its activities on conservation. On an 80 acre preserve located in The Land Between the Lakes, under the supervision of the Tennessee Valley Authority, an area was assigned to the troop as their project.

Troop 45 has used the facilities of the Land Between the Lakes demonstration area to conduct their various conservation projects during the past three years. Some of the things the boys accomplished were planting 7,000 pine trees and other food-producing shrubs and plants; plugging gullies; staking banks; rebrushing lakeshore areas; putting out food for wildlife and bird houses and nesting boxes; assisting in fish and turtle studies and the banding of migratory birds; giving talks, putting out posters and encouraging others to practice conservation; clearing trash and litter left by careless campers; participating in rabbit inventories, deer drives and track counts to determine levels of wildlife.

Troop 45 was awarded the William T. Hornaday Award for distinguished service in conservation. This award is presented by the Boy Scouts of America with the cooperation of the New York Zoological Society in honor of the late William T. Hornaday, a pioneer in conservation.

Murray Troop 45 is in The Choctaw District of The Four Rivers Council and is sponsored by Methodist Men of The First United Methodist Church.

INTRODUCES BILL

WASHINGTON UP — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said today he will introduce a bill requiring the government to reimburse commercial fishermen whose catches are banned from the market because of insecticide contamination. Nelson said government has been "rejecting too slowly" despite "mounting scientific evidence" that persistent pesticides are infiltrating our environment and the tissues of living creatures everywhere on earth.

SOCIAL SECURITY Questions and Answers

Question: What kinds of home health services are covered by Medicare? When are home health services covered by Medicare?

Answer: Medicare's home health benefit covers a number of services for the patient who is confined to his home by illness or injury. These services can be covered by either hospital or medical insurance if they are ordered by a doctor and if they are furnished by a home health agency participating in Medicare.

The same kinds of home health services are covered under both hospital and medical insurance, and include:

—Part-time nursing care. —Physical therapy. (Physical therapy is covered as a home health service only if it is performed by a qualified physical therapist who is provided or arranged for by the home health agency.)

—Occupational and speech therapy. —Medical social services. —Part-time services of home health aides.

Use of medical appliances like wheelchairs and hospital beds. —Medical supplies like surgical dressings and oxygen.

Some of the services which are NOT covered are full-time nursing care, personal comfort items, housekeeping services, drugs and biologicals, and meals delivered to the home. Physicians' services in the home are not considered to be part of the home health benefit; but they are covered by medical insurance.

Hospital Insurance Home Health Benefit

If your doctor prescribes home health services after you have been in a hospital or extended care facility, the services would be covered under the hospital insurance part of Medicare. Your hospital insurance will pay all the reasonable costs of up to 100 home health visits in the 1-year period following your most recent discharge from a hospital or extended care facility if:

—You were hospitalized for at least 3 days, and —Your doctor arranges for the services within 14 days after your discharge from the hospital or extended care facility, and —The home health treatment is for a condition for which you received care in the hospital or extended care facility.

After you have used all your hospital insurance home health benefits, your medical insurance can help pay for any further home health visits you need.

Medical Insurance Home Health Benefit

Medical insurance will help pay for up to 100 home health visits in each calendar year. These are the same services you get under hospital insurance, but you do not have to be hospitalized first to get them. Your doctor arranges for these services and sets up a plan for them.

Medical insurance pays 80 percent of the reasonable costs for covered home health services after you meet the $50 deductible each year. The home health agency bills you for the remaining 20 percent and any part of the $50 deductible you have not paid.

Under both hospital and medical insurance, the home health agency always makes the claim for reimbursement, so you do not need to submit a Request for Payment form.

husband "the biggest ham in the U.S."

But after shutting down the camera and before they went to bed, the astronauts did some homework on the most crucial phase of their flight, Thursday's swoop by Stafford and Cernan to within 50,000 feet of the moon's surface to test the Apollo moon landing vehicle and make a final survey of the Apollo 11 landing site.

"We're getting out our lunar operation cards and charts — just having a skull session," Stafford said Monday night.

"We'll be doing this for the next couple of days."

Having A Ball

The 27-minute television show Monday afternoon plainly showed that Stafford, Young and Cernan — the operator of the 13-pound, $75,000 camera — were having a ball.

Stafford, his whiskers showing distinctly, happily chewed a huge wad of gum, bounced an upside-down Young in the palm of his hand, and spun a gold flashlight in weightless suspension. When Young held up a picture of the cartoon pup Snoopy, Cernan cracked from behind the camera, "I didn't know Tom had a big nose like that."

"Snoopy" is the name given the lunar lander Stafford and Cernan will fly around the moon. The command craft is called "Charlie Brown."

The camera also zoomed in on the blue-white marble of earth dropping behind the soaring spacecraft and the astronauts gave a lively report on cloud conditions they could see around the world.

Throughout the day, the conversation from the astronauts was sprinkled with their high good humor.

"It's really a ball up here. It's the only way to fly."

"At the chance of sounding corny and trite, it's really another world out here."

"Boy, have we got the world's brightest sunshine up here."

"... It's almost like being in a dream."

New Zoning Urged To Beautify Cities

By Dorothea M. Brooks
NEW YORK (UPI)

Urbanites are in for some pleasant surprises if some of our leading architects and developers have their way.

No longer will a walk down city streets mean a dash from one traffic light to the next with nary a glance at the surroundings in between.

It will be fun just to stroll, window shop and browse; perhaps stop for coffee at a sidewalk cafe.

S. Joseph Tankos, Jr., international real estate developer, has taken a stand against zoning and construction practices which, he says, result in city buildings that doesn't meet the public's needs. And he draws support from fellow planners.

Tankos is chairman of Tankos-Yarmon, Ltd., Canada's largest private realty firm, senior partner of Tankos & Co., New York-headquartered real estate brokers, and president of The Mue-Tankos Corp., consultants to developers of regional shopping centers.

He wants to see more covered arcades built in our cities, as in Europe, "more buildings extending to the street so that people can enjoy them, more sidewalks covered with pretty things as in Rome and Florence. Shops don't have to be hidden away in the bowels of a building," he insisted.

"Let's make our cities interesting. Somewhere where it's fun to walk down the street."

Tankos is particularly incensed about the trend toward open air plazas, such as those surrounding the General Motors and Seagram buildings in New York City. He places the blame for "such badly-designed buildings" on the city's zoning laws.

Economically, he explained, a builder gets a "plus for going high and setting back, but a minus for coming out to the curb line. The farther back you go the higher you are permitted to go."

This, he charged, results in great expanses of "nothing" space; just wider sidewalks, greater distances to cover from curb to building in the rain. He wants to cover those wide open spaces with malls, galleries and arcades. "Why fight the elements? Why waste the space?" he asks, "when, instead, with a little municipal imagination, and a master plan to provide sensible architecture for the future, our cities could construct heated and air-conditioned walkways and more amenities to make city life pleasant instead of a chore."

Example

Tankos pointed to Calgary, Canada, as an example of a progressive city that is putting pedestrian walkways 15 feet above their street levels. This shopping level, called Plus 15, he said, is expected to bring life and action to that city's streets and buildings and enable people to shop in comfort.

Harold Hansen, senior architect for the Calgary Planning Department, agrees. "Tankos' comments are quite valid," he said. "While climatic conditions here in Canada are more extreme and protection is more significant for us, the truth is we are learning from your mistakes in the United States. It will be difficult for America to break from evolutionary patterns."

"We don't have so many precedents to worry about. We are more likely to scrap a plan that doesn't suit the public's needs. Naturally, economics is a chief concern, but we look at the situation very seriously from a human angle."

Joseph M. Leonte, architect and vice president for Tishman Realty & Construction Co., Inc., one of the oldest and largest real estate investment firms in the United States, admits his company promotes the plaza look.

"We feel it adds to the quality and character of a building. Investors and tenants now realize that a significant building in New York or any other urban location needs light, air and protection — features that only a plaza can afford."

Conceived as a planning panacea, he said, there is no doubt the plaza has become an economic tool for, by creating open space, height can be added.

However, Leonte added, "we recognize that a use has to be developed for plazas other than just using the space for wider sidewalks."

Vocational

large the vocational needs of Calloway County are not being met by these programs. Calloway County is considered to be in the area of the West Kentucky Vocational School, which is located in Paducah; but due to the commuting distance involved and the load that this school is now carrying, very few students in this County have been able to benefit from the services of this school.

The vocational education proposed, provided financial resources are available, will include not only training for high school students, but also an extensive adult education program is planned to meet the needs of up-grading skills and teaching of new skills to the adult population. It is anticipated that courses in the following areas will be offered when this school is opened: Auto Mechanics and Body Repair, Cosmetology, Appliance Repair, Building Trades, and Business and Office Occupations. However, the curriculum will not be limited to these introductory areas, but can be expanded in any area of vocational training as the need arises.

Financial support for this school must come through a joint effort of local, state, and federal agencies. The application submitted by the Calloway County Board of Education states that the local board of education will provide the building site and finance one-half of the money for the construction of the building. An early estimate on the cost of construction of this school was approximately $400,000; but due to inflation, it would be reasonable to assume that the local effort for building costs might be nearer $250,000, rather than $200,000. The Federal Government and the State of Kentucky will provide funds for the other half of construction, furnish all funds necessary for equipping the school, and when the school is in operation, they will pay the custodial costs, instructional costs, and maintenance costs.

The Calloway County Board of Education in submitting the 15c special voted tax question to the voters on May 27, is including funds for the vocational school as a part of the building program package which the voters will be asked to approve. In addition to the funds needed to build the vocational school, this special voted tax will include necessary funds to build two elementary schools in
